Strange Animal Friendship.
Pathetic instances are told of strange friendships between animals in captivity. A curious incident occurred in New Orleans some years ago, when a bear was lowered into the cage of an old African lion. The keepers supposed it would be torn to pieces, and many people assembled to see the barbarous exhibition. The bear at once assumed the offensive and rushed at the lion, but, to the amazement of the onlookers, the lion, hitherto regarded as extremely savage and dangerous, placed his paw upon the bear's head as if to express his pity and tried to make friends with him.
Taking the bear under his protection, the lion suffered no one to approach the cage and did not sleep until he was exhausted, so closely did he watch over his new friend. He even allowed him to share his food.
The two animals would lie down side by side, the lion usually with a protective paw over the bear. His delight in companionship was manifested unmistakably, and his captors were humane enough to let the two share the same cage.—Kansas City Independent.

Powdering the Hair.
In 1795 the mayor of Yarmouth, England, issued the following proclamation: "Owing to the present enormous price of corn and the alarming apprehension of a scarcity in that most necessary article, many towns throughout the kingdom have set the laudable example of leaving off for a time the custom of wearing powder in their hair, by which means a great quantity of wheat must infallibly be saved to the nation, and if the price be not reduced it may at least be prevented from increasing. We, therefore, the mayor, justices and principal inhabitants of Great Yarmouth, do recommend the example as worthy imitation, and we flatter ourselves the military will not hesitate to adopt it, being fully convinced that appearances are at all times to be sacrificed to the public weal, and that in doing this they will really do good."

Four Great Musicians.
Palestrina was a revolutionist in his day, but is now virtually obsolete even for the severest classicists. Gluck was as radical an innovator as Wagner, yet it is only occasionally and with difficulty that one of his works can now be briefly re-stated. Beethoven was a madman even to many of the best musicians as late as 1805, when, as that musical veteran, Professor Haupt, himself said, the "Fifth Symphony" was rehearsed in Berlin for the first time, and the orchestra dashed the music from the racks, declaring it was crazy and could never be played. Now this same "Fifth Symphony" is considered a model of form, and its composer is the cherished idol of conservatives and classicists.

Pity For Western Nations.
The Chinese enjoy the greatest liberty. The laws of the western nation are too numerous and too severe. Instances of their bondage may be given. All the children in the country are bound to attend school at a certain age. When an author wants to print a book, he has to ask for a copyright. Before a man can start a newspaper he must apply for a certificate from his government sanctioning him to do so. There are fixed regulations governing all companies and firms. All marriages must be reported to a certain department for registration. Thus there is no liberty between husband and wife.—Peking Sin Pao.

Miniature Trees.
The Japanese art of making miniature landscapes and gardens consists chiefly in starving the plant so as to retard the circulation of its sap or life giving juices. Furguson, who was one among the first of English adventurers to visit China and Japan, mentions the fact that he saw at Canton "a box about the bigness of a ladies snuff box, which did not contain a littly dirt and sixteen tiny littly trees, four-of which were in full bloom, the whole box, trees and all so small that a man could put them in his mouth together."

Transcaucasia.
Transcaucasia grows almost every known grain in the world. The forests of the Caucasian mountain range produce saffron, madder, oak, walnut and boxwood lumber, while apples, pears and grapes grow wild in these forests to such an extent that they are exported in large quantities. The wine of Caucasia is also exported, and the cotton of the country is second only to that of Egypt.

Gold and Silver Beetles.
The most remarkable gold beetles in the world are found in Central America. The head and wing cases are brilliantly polished with a luster as of gold itself. To sight and touch they have all the appearance of that metal.
Oddly enough, another species from the same region looks like solid silver freshly burnished.

His Dearest.
Wife—Do you love me as much as ever?
Husband—I reckon so.
Wife—Will I always be the dearest thing in the world to you?
Husband—I am sure you will unless the landlord raises the rent.

How She Felt.
"How do you feel after your ordeal?" asked the fair divorcee's friend as they came down the courthouse steps.
"Feel?" repeated she, with a gurgle of triumph. "I feel completely unmanned!"—Houston Post.

The question of who founded Rome of the gentleman who made her bowling.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Save the Children.
Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases of children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion.
Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is just as good for children as it is for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs active and encourages their growth and development. Mrs. Henry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says:
"My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol he is a well baby. I recommend it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by Thelk B. Loryea

A Word to My Friends.

The large additions to our store have been completed and we are now in the Northern markets shopping for our lady friends, picking up the latest creations in Dress Goods, Silks, Dress Trimmings and Millinery, all of our staple stuffs having been bought early in the spring, thus discounting the high prices that are now being paid for all staple stuff. Suffice it to say that we will be amply prepared to take good care of those who do their fall and winter shopping at our store.
In short, we propose to show the grandest and cheapest stock of goods at our stores this fall that has ever been shown in Manning.
Look out for Jenkinson when he returns, for he is going to make things very interesting to the shopping public the coming season.

Juries in the Old Days.
In olden times when a jury in England remained unpersuaded to the judge's gentle mode of persuasion fine and imprisonment were resorted to. The jury that acquitted Sir Nicholas Throckmorton was condemned to eight months' imprisonment in addition to the payment of a large sum of money.
In the reign of Queen Elizabeth a jury, having reduced a prisoner's alleged crime of murder to that of manslaughter, was at once sent to prison and bound over in a large sum to be of good behavior. Penalties were likewise inflicted upon the innocent wife and children of the offending jurymen.
Even now it is believed by some legal authorities that a judge has the right to inflict a fine upon a jurymen refusing to obey his directions. Such power is, however, not exercised except in the case of a juror absenting himself without a justifiable cause. Of this practice there is the following story: A judge had fined a jurymen for nonattendance. On hearing that he had been unable to be present because of his wife's funeral the judge, whose wife was said to be not of a particularly gentle nature, exclaimed: "Has he?
That was a good excuse indeed. I wish we all had the same!"

The Dog in Egypt.
In Egypt the dog was a friend and faithful servant. He lived in the house with his master, followed him in his walks, attended the public ceremonies, sometimes free, at other times held in leash by a slave or child or in princely families by a favorite dwarf. At his meals he had his place marked under the benches of the guests. As in Greece and Rome, he was there to dispose of bones, the fragments of meat and the pieces of bread that were thrown down and in a general way to keep the dining room clean. These were certainly not very refined fashions, and if our house dogs had to satisfy themselves in this way they would be likely to die of hunger.
The ancients did not feel the delicate tastes and disgusts in such matters that we experience. Their life presented excessive refinements and rude features of which we have no idea side by side. The house dog in Egypt was a domestic, working at his trade, only his trade was one in which we have ceased to employ him.

The Cry of the Loon.
The cry of the loon is one of the strangest, weirdest sounds in nature.
Those who have heard it can scarcely wonder that it has so often been woven into song and legend.
A blood red ring hung round the moon.
Hung round the moon. Ah, me! Ah, me!
I heard the piping of the loon.
A wounded loon. Ah, me!
And yet the eagle feathers rare I, trembling, wove in my brave's hair.

Almost all writers who have attempted to describe the cry of this bird have likened it to unmitigated laughter.
Thus Mr. Vernon Bailey, speaking of the sound, describes it as follows: "Only late in the heart of the heart of the loon's wild cry—one clear, piercing note or a long, quivering, demonaic laugh that to the timid suggests a herd of screaming panthers."

Quite Unlike.
"Why, George, what an enormous pile of letters!" exclaimed the bride of a week. "Billetts doux, I suppose."
"No, my dear," replied the other half of the sketch. "They are billes overdue."—Chicago News.

I have found Dr. McFetter's TEETHINA a splendid remedy and aid for my teething children. When my oldest boy was teething, every succeeding day seemed as if he would inevitably lose him. I happened upon TEETHINA, and began at once administering it to him, and his improvement was made in 24 hours, and from that day on he prospered. I have constantly kept it at hand since with my children, and have seen great benefits in soothing its pains to all mothers' young children. I found it invaluable even after the teething period was passed.
